

A method for destruction of ground targets using unmanned aircraft allows to increase the flight range of attack unmanned aircraft, which can be controlled when entering the stage of destroying ground targets.