

A cigarette paper comprises a case for smoking material, a hollow holder located in the case and made with a deformed section partially overlapping the holder hollow. The holder is made as a paper spiral wound around the longitudinal axis of holder, and the deformed section is made on the inner turn of spiral.