

A stand for dressing deformations comprises clamps, a lower support plate, upper fixed stops, a lower movable stop, wherein the upper fixed stop is connected to one of the clamps by a screw thread and the lower movable stop is mounted on a screw thread into the lower plate with possibility of movement of the lower movable stop along the lower support plate. According to the utility model it comprises an upper support plate, headstocks, a lower fixed stop, a dressing movable stop, a thrust bearing, a dressing blade, side movable stops, locking means, stands.