

A method of bottling and storage of alcoholic beverages in small packaging containers includes pre-prepared sterile packaging containers, which are filled with alcoholic beverages. Such spirits as liqueurs, vodka, brandy, cognac, whiskey are used, with which the containers are filled with a dosage of 10-40 ml or 10-40 mg by weight of the beverage, and hermetically sealed.