

A driver night-vision spectacles comprise combined optical filter comprising two segments, one of which has high transmission factor 90-100%, and second has low transmission factor equal to 10-15%. The boundary between segments goes vertically and is projected to eye pupil.