

The device for the selective destruction of the material consists of a body, which sets the grinding table and rolls. The grinding table is designed as a grate predetermined gap size. Elements grate adapted to transition from horizontal to vertical position, for unloading the hopper merely cut pieces of strong material. The working surface of the rolls is made as an inflatable rubber membrane.